Highland Forethought.

The ferry boat was well on her way when a violent storm arose and fears were entertained for her safety. The ferryman and his mate (both Highlanders) held a consultation, and after a short debate the ferryman turned to his passengers and remarked anxiously: "We'll jus' tak' your tuppences now, for we dinna ken what might come ower us."

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient more strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Strenuous Life in St. Bernard.

The hard climate and the perilous task undertaken by the monks of the famous St. Bernard hospice usually ruin the health of these originally robust men in the brief spell of 15 years, when they return to Martigny to conclude their days. Even the dogs are at intervals sent to Martigny for a rest.

Take Time to Think.

Stopping to think is a habit worth cultivating and worth teaching. There is safety in it, and happiness. Stopping to think would save many a life now sacrificed by thoughtlessness. It would also save many a headache now needlessly inflicted for no other reason than that "I didn't think."

REMARKABLE CURE OF DYSENTERY.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15, and used the doctors' medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill, of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers. (August)

Laws of Physics.

Caustic Calkins dropped his watch on the sidewalk. "Did it stop?" inquired Solicitous Jones. "As the flagging is four inches thick," replied Calkins, "it did. But I think, if I get a heavier watch it may go through next time."

Living in Lives of Others.

Think as much as you like, but do you every day take a bath of humanity? You must live in the life of others.—Jean-Christophe.

COSTLY TREATMENT.

"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began using Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers. (August)

CHECK RAISER'S WAY

Expert Has Little Difficulty in Stealing Fortune.

Operator Finds It Easy to Alter Fine Writing, but Difficult With Calligraphy of Ignorant—"Manual" Used by Crooks.

Chicago.—A Chicago crook sat in a room just off La Salle street four years ago studying a check. It was made out for $27, and was certified by the state bank on which it was drawn. The crook's specialty was check raising. He was preparing to steal a fortune with the little piece of paper.

The president of a cement construction company had written the check. He had taken what he thought proper business precautions. He wrote "twenty-seven," drew a horizontal line through two short vertical lines, and added "and 00-100" before the word "dollars" on the check.

The long horizontal line through the two short vertical lines, often termed a "hickey," is a frequent device against the unscrupulous. The man in the back room just off La Salle street made three movements with his pen and the "hickey" became "th." Then he wrote "ous," the word "and" completing "thousands." Three ciphers were added to the figures in the line above. The certified check was then deposited in a trust and savings bank, and a withdrawal of $27,000 was immediately made against it.

A veteran thief catcher in Chicago recently, in recounting this incident, added that there exists among professional check raisers what amounts to a manual.

"Write me a check," he urged a visitor.

A check for $200 was written. It was passed over to the detective. Within two minutes, without an erasure being made, it called for $500.

"By the 'manual' the figure 'two' is always potential of 'five,'" he explained. "The aim is always to avoid the interlining or the extending of words. Check raisers know all the characters which lend themselves to changes that cannot be detected. The capital 'T,' as most of us write it, can, for instance, be changed to the capital 'F' without the slightest trouble.

"Here are a few of the changes that can be made almost as fast as writing:

"One" to "eight."
"Two" to "five."
"Ten" to "fifty."
"Four" to "forty."
"Twenty" to "seventy."

"Now, the figure '1,' for instance, may be readily formed into any other figure save '2' and '3.'

"The word 'hundred' may be formed easily from the flipping scroll that many write after a sum. Almost any movement of lines that have any regularity may be formed into words.

"The hardest check to raise or alter is the one written by a nearly illiterate person," the expert continues. "The gracefully flowing hand is the easiest changed.

"There is, in fact, no comparison between raising checks with a genuine signature and forging the signature itself—so far as the ease of execution is concerned.

"Of course, banks and business houses, many of them, at least, protect themselves nowadays with devices that brand a limitation of the check indelibly into the very texture of the paper. In this field, too, many devices at first thought absolute safeguards were soon outwitted by the crooks.

Filling Perforated Checks.

"Take a machine that perforated the paper with the exact amount for which the check was drawn. Really all that was needed was a common little punch and a bottle of invisible glue. Every crook knows where to put his hands on that. Or else they use a bit of money mender and then peel it off.

"But what does the crook do? He has a check perforated $300. He takes his little punch and punches from the edge of the check a few tiny disks of the same size. With a needle tip he plugs up the holes in the last dollar sign. After the glue is dry he punches a cipher in its place and a dollar mark after it. Where the machine perforated an entire letter, the crook bought a smaller machine and filled up the perforations before making new ones to suit himself."

GULF STREAM TAKES SPURT

Waters Are So Fast That Ship, Slowed Down, Arrives One Day Too Soon.

Boston.—Carried along at great speed by an unusually swift current in the gulf stream the United Fruit company's steamer Sosua, from Port Limon, Costa Rica, reached here a day ahead of time.

Captain Bjoness says that the waters of the stream were strangely active and the steamer began moving so rapidly that the engines were slowed down to half speed. Even after that the Sosua logged off the miles at an amazing rate.

Old Romans Dope Fiends?

Paris.—Camille Pitotillet, an archaeologist, has discovered proofs that the ancient Romans were pipe smokers, using lavender plants and leaves habitually and opium occasionally. Roman pipes recently found were made of a substance resembling meerschaum. References to the smoking habit were discovered in the literature of the time.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER"

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anemia, is common in young folks as well as old. Especially is it the case with those who work in ill-ventilated factories—or those who are shut up indoors in winter time with a coal stove burning up the oxygen or emitting carbonic (poison) gas. This blood, or blood which lacks the red blood corpuscles, in anemic people may have been caused by lack of good fresh air breathed into lungs, or by poor digestion or dyspepsia. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart which is not heart disease at all, but caused by indigestion. Whatever the cause, there's just one remedy that you can turn to—knowing that it has given satisfaction for over 25 years.
